

Grenzebach launches new products

Grenzebach has introduced a new production line for coated glass at the GlassBuild America exhibition in the USA. One of its new lines has already been installed at a processor in the USA.

It is fully automated and is designed to solve the major challenges related to handling glass that has high performance coatings. Also, Grenzebach introduced automated glass handling solutions for medium and small processors of glass and for operations including coating, high speed toughening, laminating and other glass fabrications.
