

Press Release

Grenzebach ranked within top 5 employers in Germany

As in previous years, the Grenzebach Group was able to further improve its position as one of Germany's top employers and secured a top position among the top five for the first time. This is the result of a ranking which is annually published by Focus-Business Magazine in collaboration with Xing, a social networking website for professionals, and the employer reviewing portal kununu.com.

Grenzebach
Maschinenbau GmbH

Albanusstraße 1-3
86663 Asbach-Bäumenheim

Kontakt:
Frédéric Erben
Phone: +49 906 982 2599
Frederic.Erben@Grenzebach.com

The companies are rated according to employee satisfaction, working atmosphere and internationality. The study measures the workplace culture of German companies of various sizes according to reliable, transparent and comparable standards. To identify the 1,000 top national employers, the market research institute Statista has evaluated more than 143,500 employer reviews from an independent online survey, a survey among Xing members, and recent Kununu reviews. Grenzebach is the only medium-sized enterprise among the TOP5 in the machine construction and plant engineering sector and has been awarded the first prize within the group of medium sized businesses. The company was also able to secure a great 82nd place in the nationwide leading group across all industries. "After having been ranked 15th last year, we are very proud of this fantastic result," says Renato Luck, CEO of the Grenzebach Group. "I think this placement impressively shows that we as a medium-sized enterprise do not have to hide behind big global players."

Grenzebach offers its employees an attractive package of social benefits, from a company pension scheme through flexible working hour models to comprehensive employee development and career development programs. "We are heavily investing in expanding our employee development program and trying to create the best possible working conditions. Thus, we are pleased to see that our employees value our efforts. It makes us proud to see how great the support of our workforce is. Of course, this also motivates us to further expand our benefits", explains Renato Luck.

In addition to the so-called "feel-good factors" Grenzebach scores with exciting work content and interesting products. The company is one of the technology leaders in the global glass and building materials industry. In addition, investments are being made in future growth markets. "With our innovative solutions for automated intralogistics, we revolutionize the in-house transport of goods and have opened up new future markets, such as additive manufacturing," explains Renato Luck. "In addition, we have developed a great solution for medium-sized companies like us with our own digitization platform. We understand the challenges that change carries with, proactively deal with them and develop new, digital added value for our customers in their core business and beyond. Well-trained and motivated employees are an important guarantor of our success. "

Press Release

Grenzebach is a world-wide leader specializing in the automation of industrial production lines. By providing services encompassing the entire life cycle of a project, Grenzebach's tailor-made automation solutions have a positive impact globally in glass and building material manufacturing as well as intralogistics. Many years of experience, continuous development, and sustainable support services are what makes Grenzebach one of the most preferred partners world-wide. 3000 installed lines in 55 countries prove that the Grenzebach name stands for quality and reliability. Amazingly, 90 percent of Grenzebach's products are for export which reflects that the medium sized family-owned company from Hamlar is a global player in the industrial automation.